NEW BUILDING

It's been a relatively quiet week in terms of new orders to report. Sumitomo Heavy secured an order for a single 112,000dwt Aframax from a yet to be confirmed buyer with delivery due in the first quarter of 2021. In Gas, Samsung announced orders for two firm 174,000CBM LNG carriers for delivery within first half 2022, similarly with the buyer's identity yet to be released.

RECYCLING

Eid Mubarak!

It has been a fairly indistinctive week with very little activity to report due mainly to the Eid holidays that fell upon us. Apart from a couple of sales evidenced below, the scene has remained stable.

The uncertainty surrounding the market is persuading many of the cash buyers to withhold from placing numbers on the table until the budgets are announced in Bangladesh and Pakistan (due 13th June and 11th June respectively), and having seen price indications fall significantly of recent weeks, Owners appear to be holding on to their units as only a scattering of tonnage is dangled in front of recyclers at this current time. Possibly, Owners are hoping of a resurgence of optimism once the budgets have been announced but in addition, reports suggest that several cash buyers still hold a large volume of tonnage in their hands that were acquired at the previously high levels but as of yet, have been unable to obtain levels from the actual recyclers anything resembling break even, let alone a profit.
